

your event and debrief afterwards to assess how you could do better next time. Top marks to Kelcroft for their team work on this event, making sure everyone was involved. Next came the dinosaur egg hunt! This time, the children had to hunt for dinosaur eggs, put them into the cleaning facility and make sure they were stored properly. At this event, I would like to pay a special complement to one of our children, Bailey. With some of our team mates from Kelford finding the day hard, Bailey took hold of one of his friend's hands from Kelford and helped him through the task and finish with style. It was amazing to see the compassion our children have for not only the children from Kelford but for all children and people with disabilities. Finally, our last event was save the duck. How much water can we get into the bucket to save the duck only using drainpipes, a cone, cups on top of helmets and balls? Again, even though we didn't get the most, it was amazing to see the team work and communication from our children.

We had completed all of our challenges and it was time for the results. And...in...second...place.....
KELCROFT! YES! A silver medal. How amazing is that? A silver medal at the South Yorkshire Schools games finals! Proud doesn't even come close to express how everyone feels towards our Kelcroft team. Let's see if we can beat it next year and achieve gold!
